1. In June 1947 the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Government began a reorganization which would permit young men to replace some of the older men now holding office. The young men are those who have received education and training from the Chinese Communists.
2. In the districts under the control of the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Government there is evidence that a "party purge" is expected. Influential men are being very careful about their political activity.
The reason for the purge is not clear, but source is of the opinion that the Chinese Communists are dissatisfied with the lack of assistance they received from the Inner Mongolians during the fifth offensive, and as the gap between the Inner Mongolians and the Chinese Communists appears to be widening, the Communists' only hope is to place young Communist-trained persons in positions of importance.)
3. Hafongga, Vice-president of the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Government, attended a Chinese Communist Liaison Conference in Harbin and returned to Wangyehmiao about 10 July 1947.
